Annual Four Pillars Report

Four Pillars of Destiny astrology is many centuries old and still practiced today throughout China by the ethnic Chinese. You not only have a natal Four Pillars chart, but that chart changes or undergoes successive transformations with each coming year. The various elements, factors, palaces, and so on in your natal chart interact with those of the current year and mark changes in your life and chart, some for the better and some more difficult to negotiate.

The following report is a map of those changes and transformations for a ten-year period, complete with traditional interpretations and guidelines for anticipating obstacles and enhancing opportunities. By studying this map, you will be better equipped to know when to reach out and advance and when to hold back and conserve. We hope you enjoy your Annual Four Pillar Report.

Section 2

Ten-Year Luck Cycles

In Chinese divination history there are said to be three different kinds of luck that we each have. There is of course what is called Man Luck, which is the luck that results from our own actions, the decisions we make, and the kind of morals and virtues we live. The second kind of luck is often called Earth Luck, and this is the province of Feng Shui, the art of placement, not only of objects in our home, but of the home itself, what part of the country we want to live, and our surroundings. The third type of luck, and the subject of this report, is Heaven's Luck, the luck of our particular destiny.

In Four Pillars Chinese astrology, our lifetime is divided into ten-year sections of time, starting within a year or so after our birth and extending for our entire life. Each ten year section has its particular qualities, elements, factors, and what not, and these qualities interact with our natal Four Pillars chart, some favorably and some not so favorably.

The Ten-Year Luck Cycles are one of the primary ways Chinese Astrologers anticipate what will happen to us during our life. Each section lasts ten years and during those years certain 'luck' or factors are in force and influence us. By knowing in advance what these factors are, it is possible to work with these forces to our advantage and lessen the difficult parts and enhance the better parts.

Your Ten-Year Luck Cycles are detailed in the following pages. We hope you enjoy them.

Section 3

Yang Fire Day Master

Fire people are charged up, ready to roll, and full of enthusiasm. As one of these types, you are usually able to easily communicate your passion to those around you. Some may find you just too intense or active. You very much prefer speaking to listening and invariably tend to leap before you look. Fire people are always on the go - active.

Society likes you when they need to make a presentation or rouse an audience. Fire people are outgoing, adventurous, sometimes even to the point of being aggressive, but for the most part they are warm and kind. People are drawn to you, perhaps because you make life appear exciting and still filled with possibilities. You naturally love change and being on the move. In Western astrology, you would have the attributes often associated with the planet Mars.

You are Yang or masculine Fire, like the fire in the Sun, shining bright over all and warm. When you come into a room, it suddenly is so much brighter. Everyone perks up. In this respect you are not unlike the zodiac sign Leo in Western astrology.

Section 4

Interdependent Day Master

You have what is called an Inter-dependent Day Master, and this suggests that you prefer to work with people from within a secure framework, situation, or group, rather than to work alone.

What this indicates is that you are above all a team player, someone who prefers working with and through an existing situation (group interaction) rather than working alone as an entrepreneurial type. In other words, you work inter-dependently with others as opposed to being somehow above and independent from the group. You are more productive working with a group than trying to create things on your own.

You are also not a home being the boss, telling others what to do. You would rather work with others as a part of a team. At the same time you can at times resent authority and don't like the feeling of being controlled, although this is probably due to a lack of confidence on your part.

In summary, cooperation with others is a necessary quality with you, a quality very important for your own well being. You draw strength, increased confidence, and accurate direction from friends, family, and your surroundings in general. Given a supportive environment, you thrive. You naturally prefer not to function as an independent agent, but do fabulously picking up on anything that is already established and in motion.

You have a somewhat fragile Day Master, which suggests that your life energy or QI works best in an environment that is protected and secure, perhaps surrounded by friends and with plenty of resources for growth and confidence.

Section 5

Ten Annual Pillars Report for 2009

This ten-year luck period contains the following qualities, each of which lasts the full ten years. This is considered part of your Heaven's Luck, what has been given to you to experience, your destiny. By examining the qualities of this section, you can plan your approach or response to these qualities and the coming events they may inspire.

☰ Unfavorable Output

Your current extended luck cycle is unfavorable as regards achievement and creativity in general. This is not a time to start things or try to put new projects and ideas into motion, as either there will be endless obstacles or the quality of the products (what is achieved) will not be high enough to succeed. Traditional advice is to lay low, ride this period out, and test your creativity during a more fortunate time.

☯ Destruction Codes

The 'Destruction' configuration in the Luck Pillars usually indicates that some external influence, circumstance, or person will cause you to veer off track and do yourself some damage. It's the "Devel made me do it!" syndrome. Someone or something outside of yourself influences you to change your behavior or life course, but usually not for the better. Ultimately, it is your own fault, but something or someone drove you to it. That is the idea.

One traditional piece of advice for this condition is to be careful to choose good company, to not fall in with a crowd that will lead you into your own bad habits.

You may want to sit this period out and remain conservative when it comes to investments or risks. Now is not the time to take chances with money or possession, so hold on to what you have.

☯ Clash Codes

The traditional word, "Clash," kind of tells the whole story. It can be harsh, but not always, but it is a coming face-to-face for better or for worse. Traditionally a Clash time can be a time of learning, of adjusting attitudes, and getting in synch with what is. On the other hand, if you are trying to escape and duck of cover, a Clash will probably root you out. Let's look at the Clash in this chart.

☯ Favorable Element Clashed Away

Here some of your strength and power is being 'clashed' away, leaving you on the losing end of things - poorer for it. Traditional advice suggests vigilance on your part, and being careful to protect and conserve what you have and not let it be drained away.

Authority in any form may feel invasive and overly stringent, causing you to go against it or even break its laws. Right now you may not be up to handling or interacting with those who at other time might command your respect. Best to bite your tongue and lay low.

☯ Self Karma

This is a configuration that shouts out "It's your own fault." Something you have done or set in motion finally bites back at you from the outside. It could be as simple as a bad habit that you know is not good, but you never got around to changing it. Suddenly, it is out of your control and you become the victim of your own handiwork. You started it.

This particular condition can be lessened by taking whatever it is to heart and learning from it. Take care of the cause, whatever that may be.

In this particular chart, the effect can be somewhat lessened by your seizing the moment, recognizing the problem, taking it to heart, and changing your behavior... as simple or difficult as that may be. In other words, there can be a happy ending here to these episodes, but it will require taking remedial action on your part.

Your current luck cycle is favorable and provides you with an extended period in increased self-confidence and strength, making it possible during this time to accomplish much that otherwise you might not be up to, so take advantage of it. This period of time includes a Harm Configuration, which is not as bad as its name suggests, but still it is not usually pleasant. To make matters worse, it usually springs itself upon us rather than creeps up. In other words, we don't usually see the Harm coming. It is most often a surprise. How do we prepare for such a surprise? Not easily is the answer. For starters, we can be more careful in what we do, how we approach business decisions, and so on. Much depends on how the Harm affects us.

In your case, there is less to worry about. It is like having a mild case of the flu; your 'Harm' is more gentle than most and will probably be less disturbing
